Dedication

The class of 1965 proudly dedicates its yearbook to

as a small unworthy token of thanks for his unsparing devotion to his profession. A teacher of United States History, Mr. Short, has given his students not only a sterling example to model themselves by, but a sense of pride in their nation's past, an awareness of the present, and direction for the future. Despite crowded classes and a burdensome schedule, Mr. Short has sacrificed much to give each student the time and personal attention he deserves. And his praiseworthy endeavors on behalf of the crosscountry and indoor track teams have reaped untold benefits for the school and those participating.

Expertly imparting knowledge, and more importantly, a desire for knowledge, Mr. Short is a teacher respected both by colleagues and students.

Foreword

Life after graduation appears entirely foreign to those eyeing its approach. After twelve years of relatively sheltered existence, the prospective graduate ponders his future responsibilities. Suddenly he will be on his own, having been told that little joy awaits him, that he will face a lifetime of toil and hardship. He can hardly remember a day when he has not been in the classroom; for three years his universe has centered around Rutland High. Therefore if the world outside does hold unknown terrors for the high school senior, it is to be expected.

But the world also lies at our feet, beckoning those with courage and energy to fashion their destinies. Hopes and dreams await fulfillment. Some will tread steadily, smoothly, others may falter, in any case there will doubtlessly come moments of reflection.

With that in mind, we have prepared this record of the happy time, its frolic and serious moments, the unique years in high school. They are the only three years here that the class of 1965 will ever have. We hope that years hence, each of us standing in his own world may through this book relive his golden sunrise. May the TALISMAN become to all the classmates of '65, however scattered, a warm and enduring bond.

To the Class of 1965:

As this is being written, you are one-fourth of the way through your Senior year at Rutland High School. As you read it, you will be preparing for the Commencement Exercises that will terminate your formal connection with R. H. S. and mark the beginning of a new life for each of you.

In brief time during which you have been members of this student body, events have occurred that will add pages to the history texts studied by students who will follow you. In that same brief period of time school history also has been made, and each of you has, in some way, helped to make it.

Your participation in the activities of the school has, in some measure, helped to produce a better athletic team, dramatic production, band or chorus, Red and White, school club, and now TALISMAN than would have been the case without your efforts. If you have not been a part of any organization and have not worked in it and for it, you have helped to make school history too. Who can say what game was lost because you did not "go out" for a given sport? Who can say what academic honor might have come to you and to your school because you did not give your best effort in the classroom and in outside study?

Now, as you read this, your record in the history of R. H. S. has been written. As a class, you may well take pride in that record. Your many contributions to your school, as well as the significant achievements, academic and extra-curricular, accomplished by so many of you as individuals, mark the class of 1965 as one of which the school is proud.

As you leave, the largest class to have been graduated from R. H. S., a waiting world opens its arms to you--"a world to be born under your footsteps". You will have to become a part of that world whether you want to or not. You will have to, in some way, play a part in shaping it. You, and thousands like you, will help to write its history even as you have helped to write three years of the history of Rutland High School.

My wish for each of you is that you make a positive effort to make this new world a better place for humanity than it now is and that your effort is marked by success. For if you do this your life will be rich and fruitful, and I can make no greater wish for you.

Sincerely,

Maynard C. Robinson

"And life is never
the same again."
George MacDonald

Officers of the Class of 1965

Mary Sinos, Vice President; David Franzoni, President; Kathleen Currier, Treasurer; Christine Rideout, Secretary.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Now, it seems we've come to our various partings of the way. Some paths perhaps, will cross again, yet for most this is our last year together. The world we are about to enter is tainted with prejudices and insanities. Our life in this world will be no more than what we make it. We must enter our world with an open mind, closed to no part of life because of parental beliefs or our own childish conclusions. If we can extend our power to perceive all about us, we cannot help but better our world.

Our years at Rutland High have been important ones, years which we shall never forget. But now a whole life is ahead of us in a world which needs this transfusion of youth. I hope that each of us will strive, in his own way, to better this life for those who should come after us. And perhaps, some day, we shall look back upon these years as some of the best years of our lives.

Sincerely,

David Franzoni

Elks' Youth Leadership Award

Derryl Freeman and Lawrence Morse won the Elks' Youth Leadership scholarships on the state level after having taken first and second places in local competition. They then were judged on a national level. Never in the history of the Elks' awards, have two contestants from the Rutland district tied for this top state award.

Applicants were judged on their scholarship and leadership, as well as on a basis of financial need. To be eligible for this award, Derryl and Lawrence presented detailed brochures containing autobiographies, explanations of goals and values, and letters of recommendation from prominent people.

Linda Durkee placed third in the local competition, and Bonnie Bender and Barbara Merriam received honorable mention. Rutland High School, and especially the Class of 1965, should take pride in this reflection on the merit of such a large proportion of its students.

CAST

Jimmy Broadbent	Earl Kelly
Sheila Broadbent (wife)	Julie McVeigh
Jane (daughter)	Christine Rideout
Mabel Crosswaite	Judy Castor
Clarissa (her daughter)	Andrea Norton
David Bulloch	Gael Joyal
David Hoylake-Johnston	Thomas Mitchell

Director	Mr. Henry LePage
Student Director	David Franzoni

Kneeling: B. Bender, E. Hubbard. Sitting: E. Kelley, J. McVeigh, C. Rideout, T. Mitchell. Standing: D. Franzoni, J. Castor, G. Joyal, R. Cobb, Mr. Henry LePage. Absent from picture, A. Norton.

Senior Play

Under the direction of Mr. Henry LePage and student director David Franzoni, the class of 1965 presented its play, THE RELUCTANT DEBUTANTE, on November 19th and 20th, 1964. Set in London, the comedy revolves around the problems of a status-seeking English family. Earl Kelley, as Jim Broadbent, dislikes social life and wants his daughter Jane, portrayed by Chris Rideout, to find a typical "nice guy." Julie McVeigh, as Sheila Broadbent, wants her daughter to date a man of social prominence, however. The two male victims are David Johnston, an American, and David Bulloch, played by Tom Mitchell and Gael Joyal. Judy Castor as Mabel competes with Sheila for a husband for her daughter, Clarissa, characterized by Andrea Norton. The two maids of the Broadbent household are Bonnie Bender and Eleanor Hubbard.

RED and WHITE
The Red and White Editorial staff's main duty is to provide the enlightening editorials, the news articles, feature stories, and sports bulletins which appear in the sixteen issues of the Red and White. Fudge sales and an aftergame dance provide funds for the pictures which add interest to our school newspaper. A festive Christmas issue, a special April Fool's issue and a graduation supplement issue add a great deal to its quality.

Five girls, attending Girls' State in Montpelier, and twelve boys, attending Boys' State in Northfield, benefited from this experiment by enriching their understanding and appreciation of democratic government functions.

The faculty chooses participants in the spring of the junior year on the basis of leadership, character, scholastic achievement and their general interest in politics.

Girls' and Boys' State

Boys' Nation

This is the first time in the history of Green Mountain Boys' State that both delegates to Boys' Nation were from the same high school. Both Lawrence Morse, 1964 Governor of Boys' State and Lawrence Minogue, contributor to the BOYS' STATEMENT, bring great credit to Rutland High School. This certainly speaks of the very high caliber of young men selected from Rutland High.

The Boys' Nation delegates are selected by ballots received from all of the counselors at Boys' State. The qualifications that are considered when selecting Boys' Nation delegates are initiative, appearance, public speaking ability, conduct, personal habits, knowledge of town and county government, physical fitness, and general ability to cooperate, get along with others, as well as to contribute to the program.

Activities on the University of Maryland campus centered around the Boys' Nation Senate and two political conventions. Each party elected its own officials before determining its nominee for the coveted offices of President and Vice President. In the Senate, the boys roughly handled two bills actually before the actual Senate.

The group visited national shrines, received V.I.P. treatment at government buildings, and visited the White House. Secretary of State Dean Rusk spoke to them at the State Department Building.

Boys' Nation is more than a sightseeing tour or a parliamentary exercise. It is a highly concentrated, memorable experience in the function of American democracy, that furthers deep patriotism and pride in our glorious heritage, of which the American Legion can be justly proud.

Mimes

This year Mimes, with Linda Beebe as president, presented a one-act comedy, almost farcical, "The Dear Departed," by Stanley Houghton. As student director, Hugh Rudnick assisted Mrs. Greene, faculty advisor.

Besides presenting an annual play, Mimes' purpose is to develop acting skills. The club also provides junior and sophomore boys with experience in set construction and training in lighting arrangements. An essential part of Mimes is learning the art of applying make-up.

Monitors

Selected because of their records of leadership and service, thirty two seniors kept traffic through the corridors moving smoothly.

The Monitors hold semi-monthly meetings under the direction of the Head Monitor, Russell Ayer, in order to solve many problems of the between-class traffic. Miss Katherine Moran is faculty advisor.

In November, the squad held a successful food sale at the Grand Union.

Carol Church was selected as queen of the "Carillion Ball," the Monitor's annual, semi-formal dance in December.

R. H. S. Band

Under the direction of Mr. Donald Boucher the R. H. S. Band made many successful performances this year.

Representing R. H. S. the band performed at the Springfield Exposition in Massachusetts, the Mount Royal Festival in Canada and the New England Music Festival. The band also participated in the Christmas Pageant, "Manhattan Tower."

In addition, the band hi-lighted our football games by performing during the halftimes and during exciting moments of the game.

Key Club

Bookstore provides funds for scholarship.

The main purpose of the Key Club is to help the school and the community. The club operates a paperback bookstore which helps stimulate good reading in the student body. The Key Club sells programs at basketball games and assists officials at football games and track meets. They presented an assembly on vandalism at Hallowe'en and a Lincoln-Washington assembly in February. At Christmas time they fill a food basket for a needy family. Susan Seeley was crowned queen of the "Broomstick Bop IV," the club's annual Hallowe'en dance.

First Row: S. Williams, C. Derby, L. Moreau, P. Drake, D. Horton, M. Dolphin, J. Dolphin; Second Row: Mrs. Helen Sloan, J. Bousley, L. Bousley, L. Derby, J. Heath, D. Sharp, S. Olson.

Future Homemakers Of America

The F.H.A. provides the future homemakers of our country with the knowledge that will benefit them after they leave high school to manage homes of their own. As well as hearing speakers and holding informal workshops, the organization sent a Christmas basket to a needy Rutland family. Mrs. Helen Sloan is the group's advisor.

Student Council

Just as enthusiastic pupils and administrations are necessary for proper education, so is student government important for a strong democracy. The whole student body is represented by elected officers from the senior, junior and sophomore classes. Mr. George Sloan lends a helping hand as faculty advisor.

Among their activities are selling candy after school, considering suggestions placed in the suggestion box, presenting citizenship awards and supervising the filling of the food baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving.

A Lion of the Month and a Student of the Month are chosen throughout the year at the bi-monthly meetings.

This year members joined with the M.S.J. student council to present "Saints and Savages," a good-will dance between rival schools. It is hoped this will become an annual event.

The Girls' Athletic Association is organized to encourage girls interested in sports. Members are usually active in every phase of athletics. Meetings are held every Thursday after school with Mrs. Joanna Maynard as faculty advisor. Susan Hinckley is the president.

This year's G.A.A. sponsored girls' teams in basketball, softball, and skiing. They also presented two successful tasting suppers and presented a Sadie Hawkins dance in February. A picnic closed a rewarding year.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is composed of boys who have earned letters in the Rutland High School sports' world. This organization brings lettermen together from the football, baseball, basketball, golf and ski teams.

One of their activities is to usher at home basketball games. Other functions include assisting in the intramural basketball program, sponsoring an informal after-game dance, and participating in a basketball game with the Varsity Club of Mount Saint Joseph.

Officers for the 1964-65 season were: Jeff Rogers, President; Dave McClure, Vice-President; Bob Prenevost, Secretary; and Wally Murphy, Treasurer. Mr. Bundsie Keefe was faculty advisor.

National Honor Society

From left to right, first row: K. Taylor, B. Merriam, M. Roberge, Treasurer; J. Burnett, President; B. Bender, Vice-President; J. Wilbur, Secretary; D. Ross. Second row: C. Casavaw, L. Lane, N. Fitzgerald, L. Morse, K. Fitzgerald, D. Freeman, L. Durkee.

Initiation into the National Honor Society is a very high honor for Rutland High School students. Twelve seniors and twelve juniors achieved their membership in a ceremony presented by the fourteen present members. Speeches concerning the four cardinal principles of the Honor Society, scholarship, character, leadership, and service, were given.

Seated: D. Franzoni, N. Barone, M. Dick. Standing: Mr. H. LePage, N. Welch, D. Franzoni, D. Freeman, D. Cobb, light crew chairman.

An Overpraised Season

"To me it seems that youth is like spring, an overpraised season—delightful if it happens to be a favored one, but in practice very rarely favored, and more remarkable, as a general rule, for biting east winds than genial breezes."—

Samuel Butler

This, then, is the theme of the 1965 entry in the one-act play contest. Studying several families in depth, it illustrates that trouble is not an adult prerogative. The particular dilemma treated here, introduced by Dave Franzoni, as the director, concerns the Junior Prom. Betty, Nancy Barone, "goes-with" Bob, Doug Franzoni, but he has not yet invited her to the dance, Larry an egghead characterized by Michael Dick, deeply admires her, and with her encouragement, invites her. She accepts.

The play is essentially one of characterization, with the boys' parents as the focal point. Bob's father, Andy Welch, is a hard-driving egocentric businessman who believes "do unto others before they do unto you." At all costs he must win the game. Larry's mother, portrayed by Derry Freeman, is a hypochondriac besides being a religious fanatic. To her, prayer is all that matters—though she won't leave her rocking chair long enough to attend church.

Though the teenagers' problems are perhaps exaggerated, the play does convey them well, illustrating that for intelligent, sensitive adolescents maturity is reached by means of many troubles.

Hodgson, B. Byron, J. Shea, B. Minogue, H. McLeod, A. James, S. Craig, G. Morgan, Manager Joe McLaughlin, Coach Martin.

Football

Joseph Teta's Raiders had their best season since the Flushing, New York native came to coach at Rutland High three years ago. Except for an upset loss to Springfield and a tie with Mount Saint Joseph Academy, Rutland was unbeatable. However, the tie with M.S.J., which ended the Raiders' 6-1-1 season, broke M.S.J.'s 24-game winning streak and prevented the Mounties from winning their third straight State Championship. Junior Walt Ladabouche, a tackle, was the Raiders' representative on the All-State first team. Full-back Ron Sabatase and guard Dave McClure, both seniors, were named to the second team.

J.V. Basketball

Huddle

Let's see, first I'll pronounce a curse on the basket, then . . .

Basketball

After establishing West Rutland High as a power in the lower classifications, Coach James Leamy transferred to Rutland in 1964-65 and brought his basketball magic with him. The St. Michael's College graduate guided the tall, but young Raiders to one of their best records of the last decade, although months before the first game he said, "This will definitely be a rebuilding season." Anchored by Dave White and Jeff Rogers, the only seniors on the roster, Rutland High accomplished a 14-7 record and placed in a fourth-place tie in the Southern Vermont League, three games behind champion, Bennington Catholic. Included among the 14 wins was the Raiders' first win over rival Mount St. Joseph Academy in three years. 1964-65 was essentially a rebuilding year though, despite the fine record. Leamy gave six-foot, nine-inch Junior, Ed Wright; six-foot, six-inch Sophomore, Bob Pratt and six-foot, four-inch Sophomore, Bill Minogue extensive Varsity grooming in preparation for the ensuing campaign. The leading scorer for Rutland was White, who was among the top five in the Southern Vermont League for most of the season. Junior Ed Robinson, Rogers, Wright and Pratt also hit regularly in double figures.

Acknowledgements

A yearbook is the result of countless hours of thought and labor on the part of individuals thrust into a totally new and exacting experience. This year's TALISMAN was fortunate to have some extremely competent staff members who quickly and, in most instances, quietly met the demands made upon them. The editors would like to thank:

Mr. Lewis McKerley and entire Business Board for their fine management of our monetary affairs.

Mr. Norm Porter, official photographer, for his willing cooperation and splendid photography.

Our publisher, Mr. Thomas Barton, for his personal aid, which greatly smoothed our way.

Mr. William Hubbard, for the photos of the Senior Play.

Miss Jean Harper, for most of the candids, and shots of school functions.

And an extra-special thanks to our Layout Staff and the Typists.

Quality Yearbooks from Glencraft

$$4E + 10Y \times \frac{PA}{BW} = Q + SC$$

Simply translated, this equation states that the unsurpassed energy, education, enthusiasm and experience of Glencraft, when added to the 10 years of successful yearbook printing and multiplied by bi-weekly personal advice of our representative equals quality plus satisfied customers. Too often sacrificed for a lower price, too seldom honored as a higher goal, quality is the keystone at Glencraft. If quality is something you admire - - -
